The Designer: Kathryn Prater The Builder: McCuiston Construction/Tonia Killian

The Project: The Perfect Team Creates the Perfect Kitchen & Bath

“Our designers and the contractors they work with are both detail-oriented in their own specific ways. They both have their expertise,” says Standard Kitchen & Bath President Larry Fendley. “When teams like Kathryn and Tonia come together, you have a combination that’s going to cover every angle from look to quality.”

Mouser
CUSTOM CABINETRY

BECAUSE OF THIS, Kathryn supplies clients and builders with Mouser Custom Cabinets: unrivaled in options, finish, longevity and price. Products like these that provide a custom finish without a custom price make it possible for the client and builder to complete the project on time and in exact replication of their wishes. With that same care, Kathryn not only designs each customer’s space with a functional and elegant combination, she gives her clients the necessary tools to understand their entire project start to finish. The true sign of a Standard Kitchen & Bath designer.

“I try to educate my customers on all different levels—taking them through the evolution of the project and why I am selecting certain

THE MOST IMPORTANT PROFESSIONAL at your side during a kitchen & bath project is an expert designer. Not only does a Standard Kitchen & Bath designer have the eye to make your space beautiful and the knowledge to make it functional, he or she has the trust of East Tennessee’s most respected contractors, which ensures a smooth remodeling or building project. Professional Standard Kitchen & Bath designer Kathryn Prater—member of the National Kitchen & Bath Association—is a perfect example of an expert that can do it all for your kitchen, your bath and your project’s timeline.

“I’m so lucky that Standard Kitchen & Bath’s reputation allows me to work with builders that share a similar desire for quality,” Prater says. I certainly do not cut corners on time or the integrity of a space and neither do the contractors I work with. When I work with a contractor, I feel assured that we are both creating the best product possible for the customer.”

Because of this dedication to quality, Kathryn and the Standard Kitchen & Bath team have built close relationships with builders like Tonia McCuiston-Killian of McCuiston Construction. A specialist in upscale construction, Tonia mirrors Kathryn’s drive to give you a kitchen and bath area that you will be able to love for years to come because of the intense focus on detail.

designs and materials. It makes for a smoother project and, most importantly, it allows the owner to appreciate their kitchen long after I’ve been involved.”
